

SAMPLE RESOURCE

Keep Our Ways Strong

Community Information Guide

A demonstration publication created to show how downloadable resources could appear on the new KOWS website.

CULTURE • CONNECTION • COMMUNITY

For demonstration only. The wording in this sample is illustrative and should be reviewed and replaced with approved KOWS content before publication.

About this sample

This document has been prepared as a website demonstration so the KOWS team can test the experience of selecting a resource, opening a PDF and reading a branded publication.

It is not intended to represent an approved organisational publication, annual report, strategic plan or formal program guide. The structure below simply demonstrates the kinds of information a future KOWS resource could contain.

What a future resource could include

About KOWS	A short introduction to the organisation, its purpose and the community-led approach behind its work.
Workshops & Programs	Plain-language information about available workshops and programs, who they are designed for and how people can enquire.
Working with Community	Information for young people, families, schools, organisations and service providers interested in connecting with KOWS.
Resources & Publications	Reports, information guides, program material and other approved documents that can be viewed or downloaded.

Workshops & Programs

The new website currently presents three program areas. The descriptions below are placeholders for layout demonstration and should be replaced with Tracy's approved wording.

1

Together Stronger Workshop

A space for connection, confidence and shared learning. Future approved copy could explain the workshop focus, intended participants, delivery format and how organisations or community members can enquire.

2

Cross-Cultural Peacemaking Workshop

A future information sheet could outline the purpose of the workshop, the cultural grounding of the approach, suitable audiences and practical details for hosting or participating.

3

AOD Program

A future resource could provide clear, culturally appropriate information about the program, its intended audience, participation pathways and the appropriate contact point for further information.

Working with KOWS

A downloadable resource can help people understand what KOWS offers before they make contact. Future publications could be tailored for different audiences, including community members, schools, service providers and partner organisations.

FOR COMMUNITY	Clear information about programs, participation and where to ask questions.
FOR ORGANISA TIONS	Information about workshops, collaboration opportunities and how to begin a conversation with KOWS.
FOR THE WEBSITE	A consistent place to host approved PDFs so visitors can view or download information when they need it.

Next step

Once the Resources & Publications page structure is agreed, this demonstration file can be replaced with genuine KOWS documents as they are approved. Each website link can then point directly to the relevant PDF.
