Curl Point

Capability Statement

Transform Your Digital Workplace Into A Business Asset

We help organisations create digital workplaces that make information easier to find, manage and trust.

"Your expertise in SharePoint was invaluable to our team. I have since implemented many of the strategies you shared with us and can confidently attest to their effectiveness.

CurlPoint specialises in digital workplace design, SharePoint intranets, information architecture and governance.

We work with organisations that want to improve navigation, collaboration and employee experience without unnecessary complexity.

Where IT providers focus on infrastructure and security, CurlPoint fills the gap in strategic design and content management - ensuring the right people have access to the right information at the right time.

Core capabilities that improve clarity, adoption and efficiency

- Find
  Designing intuitive intranets, navigation structures and information architecture that help people quickly locate the information they need.
- Connect
  Creating connected workplace experiences using SharePoint, Teams and Microsoft 365 that support communication, collaboration and knowledge sharing.
- Govern
  Establishing governance, content ownership and sustainable management practices that keep information accurate, trusted and easy to maintain.
- Adopt
  Supporting change through mentoring, communication and capability building that helps people confidently embrace new ways of working.

Independent, vendor-neutral advice

CurlPoint is not a managed service provider and does not re-sell software. All recommendations are focused solely on what will work best for your organisation using Microsoft 365

Founded on lived experience, not theory

CurlPoint is led by Stacey Smith, whose experience spans administration, operations management, leadership and digital workplace transformation.

This operational background provides a practical perspective on how people work, where information breaks down and what it takes to create digital workplaces that people genuinely use.

We don't manage Microsoft 365.
We design the workplace that sits inside it.

At its core, CurlPoint is about transforming SharePoint from a document repository into a business asset people actually use.
